 10 NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
 11

12 E & E CO., LTD., a California Corporation,	}	Case No.
13 Plaintiff,
14 v.
15 CHIC HOME DESIGN LLC,	}	COMPLAINT FOR COPYRIGHT
16 a New York limited liability company,		INFRINGEMENT (17 U.S.C. §§ 106,
17 and DOES 1 through 10, inclusive		113(a), 501)
18 Defendants.	}	DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

 20 Plaintiff E & E CO., LTD., for its Complaint against Defendants CHIC
 21 HOME DESIGN LLC and DOES 1 through 10, complains as follows:

22 PARTIES

23 1. Plaintiff E & E CO., LTD. (“E&E”) is, and at all relevant times was,
 24 a corporation organized under the laws of the State of California with its principal 25 place of business in the City of Fremont in Alameda County, California. E&E is 26 engaged in the wholesale home furnishings business under the registered fictitious
 27 business name “JLA Home.”
 28

1 willfully directed its infringing activity at the copyright owner, Plaintiff E&E, in the 2 State of California.

3 VENUE

4 7. Venue is proper in this federal judicial district pursuant to 28 U.S.C.
5 §§ 1391(b), 1391(d) and 1400(a) because on information and belief, Defendant Chic
6 knowingly and willfully directed its infringing activity at the copyright owner,
7 Plaintiff E&E, located within this District; sold and shipped infringing products in 8 and to this District; maintains an agent for service of process in this District; and this
9 Court has personal jurisdiction over Chic at the time of filing of this action.

10 GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

11 8. Plaintiff E&E and Defendant Chic are competitors in the business of 12 wholesale selling of home furnishings.

13 9. E&E discovered that Chic was selling competing home furnishing 14 products bearing graphic designs apparently copied from E&E's competing products
15 and infringing on E&E's copyrights on those designs.

16 10. E&E informed Chic that E&E had discovered the infringement, and 17 ordered Chic to cease and desist.

18 11. Chic did not agree to stop selling the infringing products in its
19 inventory. E&E brings this action to stop, and obtain redress for, Chic's willful
20 copyright infringement of E&E's graphic designs on its competing products.

21 ALLEGATIONS RELATED TO THE CLAREMONT FLORAL DESIGN

22 12. E&E exclusively owns an original textile floral print design
23 designated as "02HY1369P" (the "Claremont Design").

24 13. E&E makes and sells textile products bearing its Claremont Design
25 for profit.

26 14. E&E first offered products bearing its Claremont Design in or about 27 April, 2014.

1 15. E&E applied for and obtained a United States copyright registration,
2 Registration No. VA 1-982-368, for its Claremont Design, which effectively
3 provided E&E with copyright protection commencing on October 1, 2015. E&E has 4 not assigned, granted, conveyed, mortgaged, or otherwise transferred property rights
5 in its Claremont Design to any other party.

6 16. Prior to Chic's infringing conduct described herein, E&E products
7 bearing the Claremont Design were publicly advertised, marketed, and widely 8 available for retail purchase.

9 17. E&E is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges, that prior to 10 Chic's infringing conduct described herein, Chic had access to the Claremont
11 Design.

12 18. E&E is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges, that Chic
13 accessed a copy of the Claremont Design from E&E or an intermediary.

14 19. E&E's investigation revealed Chic to be advertising, marketing,
15 distributing, and selling bedding products bearing a textile print that is substantially
16 identical to the Claremont Design (hereafter, "Accused Products A"). Accused
17 Products A include, but are not limited to, comforters, duvet covers, and pillow
18 shams marketed under, at least, the names "Wildflowers," "Gray Primrose,"
19 "Botanic Garden," and "Liha."

20 20. An illustrative comparison of E&E's Claremont Design against an 21 exemplar of Defendant's Accused Products A created by laying Chic's infringing
22 product (on the left) partly over E&E's product (on the right) is set forth as follows:

23 ///

24 ///

25 ///

26 ///

27 ///

28 ///

21. The substantial similarity between the Claremont Design and the graphic designs borne by Accused Products A is too striking to be the result of anything other than copying.

22. E&E sent a cease-and-desist letter to Chic on or about August 29, 2016 regarding, inter alia, Chic's infringement of the Claremont Design in Accused Products A.

23. Chic responded by email on October 10, 2016, but did not agree to cease sales of Accused Products A in its inventory. E&E responded to Chic by email on the same day (October 10, 2016), but Chic never responded further.

24. E&E is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges, that Chic has willfully sold Accused Products A, and willfully continued to sell Accused Products A after receiving the cease-and-desist letter from E&E, and currently continues to sell Accused Products A.

25. E&E is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges that Chic copied, manufactured (or caused to be manufactured), distributed, displayed publicly, and sold and continues to sell products bearing the Claremont Design with knowledge that the Claremont Design belonged to E&E.

26. E&E is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges that Chic copied, manufactured (or caused to be manufactured), distributed, displayed publicly, and sold products bearing the 02HY1369P Design without the copyright owner's authorization and with scienter that it had no right to do so.

ALLEGATIONS RELATED TO THE CLARA GEOMETRIC DESIGN

27. E&E exclusively owns an original textile geometric pattern design designated as "08MR0005P" (the "Clara Design").

28. E&E makes and sells textile products bearing its Clara Design for profit.

29. E&E first offered products bearing its Clara Design in or about April, 2014.

30. E&E applied for and obtained a United States copyright registration, Registration No. VA 1-946-414, for its Clara Design, which effectively provided E&E with copyright protection on February 5, 2015. E&E has not assigned, granted, conveyed, mortgaged, or otherwise transferred property rights in the Clara Design to any other party.

1 31. Prior to Chic's infringing conduct described herein, E&E products
2 bearing the Clara Design were publicly advertised, marketed, and widely available
3 for retail purchase.

4 32. E&E is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges, that prior to 5 Chic's infringing conduct described herein, Chic had access to the Clara Design.

6 33. E&E is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges, that Chic
7 accessed a copy of the Clara Design from E&E or an intermediary.

8 34. E&E's investigation revealed Chic to be advertising, marketing,
9 distributing, and selling bedding products bearing a textile print that is substantially
10 identical to the Clara Design (hereafter, "Accused Products B"). Accused Products
11 B include, but are not limited to, quilts, coverlets, and pillow shams marketed under,
12 at least, the names "Maricel Blue," "Blue Lucy," "Yellow Virginia," and "Lori."

13 35. An illustrative comparison of E&E's Clara Design against an 14 exemplar of Defendant's Accused Products B created by laying Chic's infringing
15 product (on the left) partly over E&E's product (on the right) is set forth as follows:

1 36. The substantial similarity between the Clara Design and the graphic
2 designs borne by Accused Products B is too striking to be the result of anything
3 other than copying.

4 37. E&E sent a cease-and-desist letter to Chic on or about August 29,
5 2016 regarding, inter alia, Chic's infringement of the Clara Design in Accused
6 Products B.

7 38. Chic responded by email on October 10, 2016, but did not agree to 8 cease sales of Accused Products B in its inventory. E&E responded to Chic by 9 email on the same day (October 10, 2016), but Chic never responded further.

10 39. E&E is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges, that Chic
11 has willfully sold Accused Products B, and willfully continued to sell Accused 12 Products B after receiving the cease-and-desist letter from E&E. E&E is not certain 13 whether Chic currently continues to sell Accused Products B, but Chic has not 14 informed E&E that it has ceased its sales of Accused Products B.

15 40. E&E is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges that Chic
16 copied, manufactured (or caused to be manufactured), distributed, displayed
17 publicly, and sold products bearing the Clara Design with knowledge that the Clara
18 Design belonged to E&E.

19 41. E&E is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges that Chic
20 copied, manufactured (or caused to be manufactured), distributed, displayed
21 publicly, and sold products bearing the Clara Design without the copyright owner's 22 authorization and with scienter that it had no right to do so.

23 FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

24 (For Copyright Infringement -- 17 U.S.C. §§ 106, 113(a), 501)

25 42. E&E incorporates herein the allegations contained in the preceding 26 paragraphs of this Complaint.

1 43. The Claremont Design and the Clara Design will be referred to
2 collectively as the “Subject Designs,” and Accused Products A and Accused
3 Products B will be referred to collectively as the “Accused Products.”

4 44. E&E is informed and believes and on that basis alleges that Chic had 5 access to all of E&E’s Subject Designs.

6 45. E&E is informed and believes and on that basis alleges that Chic
7 manufactures, or causes to be manufactured, textile products bearing graphic
8 designs, and advertises, markets, distributes, and sells such products for profit.

9 46. E&E is informed and believes and on that basis alleges that Chic
10 infringed E&E’s copyrights by causing the creation, making, developing, distributing 11 and/or selling of the Accused Products bearing graphic designs substantially similar 12 to, and copied from, the Subject Designs.

13 47. As set forth above, E&E obtained United States copyright
14 registration of each of the Subject Designs either before or less than five years after 15 the respective designs were made public.

16 48. E&E has not assigned, granted, conveyed, mortgaged, or otherwise
17 transferred property rights in any of the Subject Designs to any other party.

18 49. E&E is the legal and beneficial owner of the Subject Designs.

19 50. Due to Chic’s acts of infringement, E&E has suffered damages to its 20 business in an amount to be established at trial.

21 51. Due to Chic’s acts of infringement, E&E has suffered general and 22 special damages in amounts to be established at trial.

23 52. Due to Chic’s acts of infringement, Chic has obtained direct and 24 indirect profits it would not otherwise have realized but for its infringement of the 25 Subject Designs, entitling E&E to disgorgement of Chic’s profits directly and 26 indirectly attributable to Chic’s infringement of the Subject Designs in an amount to 27 be established at trial.
28

53. In the alternative, E&E is entitled to statutory damages from Chic for each Subject Design infringed by Chic.

54. E&E is informed and believes and on that basis alleges that Chic's infringement of the Subject Designs was willful, reckless and/or in blatant disregard of E&E's rights as copyright holder.

55. E&E has incurred and will continue to incur attorneys' fees, costs, and expenses to prosecute this copyright infringement action. The circumstances of this dispute warrant recovery of attorneys' fees and costs under 17 U.S.C. section 505.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Wherefore, Plaintiff E&E prays for judgment as follows:

1. That Chic, and its agents and employees, be enjoined from infringing E&E's copyrights, specifically including copyrights for the Subject Designs;

2. That E&E be awarded all direct and indirect profits of Chic plus all direct and indirect losses of E&E, plus any other monetary advantage gained by Chic through its infringement, the exact sum to be proven at trial; or, to the extent elected before final judgment, statutory damages available under the Copyright Act;

3. That a trust be imposed over all Accused Products and any revenues derived from the sale or distribution of any Accused Products or unauthorized exploitation of the Subject Designs;

4. That Chic account to E&E for its profits from infringement of the Subject Designs;

5. That E&E be awarded additional, enhanced damages for the reckless and willful nature of Chic's infringement of the Subject Designs;

6. That E&E be awarded its attorneys' fees under 17 U.S.C. section 505;

7. That E&E be awarded pre-judgment interest as allowed by law;

8. That E&E be awarded the costs of this action; and

1 9. That E&E be awarded such further legal and equitable relief as the 2 Court deems just and proper.
